WYETH ANNOUNCES THE APPOINTMENT OF A NEW CORPORATE AFFAIRS DIRECTOR

Tuesday June 5th, 2007. Wyeth Pharmaceuticals has announced the appointment of former senior Civil Servant, Heather Rogers, as its new Corporate Affairs Director for the UK.

Based at the company's UK HQ at Taplow, and reporting to Managing Director Steve Higgins, Heather Rogers replaces Gill Markham who has moved to a position as Senior Director, Public Affairs for Wyeth in Europe, the Middle East and Africa.

Heather Rogers joins Wyeth from the UK arm of Edelman, a leading global corporate communications and public affairs consultancy, where she headed Edelman's London health advocacy team. Prior to this, Rogers had a long-established career as a civil servant, primarily within the Department of Health, followed by a spell working for Tessa Jowell at the department of Culture, Media and Sport.

Responsibilities will include internal and external communications, Government relations and the interface with the NHS across the UK.

Heather Rogers joins the Company in July.
